

Mikey Mason is a comedy monster. A naughty cartoon character. An experiment gone wonderfully wrong. He explodes on stage with unfathomable energy, relentlessly pounding away at his audience with a wit as fast as his mouth, infectiously hilarious original songs, and his completely twisted world view. He is not right in the head and he likes it that way.

Mikey's act is somewhere between what we think and what we let ourselves say. And his songs...! With songs like, "I Hate Your Kids," "Licky-Licky Night," "Reality Based Children's Songs," "Ode To A Single Mother Of Two In The Apartment Next Door At 5:30AM," and many, many more, Mikey is definitely unabashed, unafraid, and unquestionably funny. He's the psycho stalker ex-boyfriend of comedy, except that you want to see him again. And again... And again...
